Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

There are a couple things said by Jesus in today's Gospel are really disturbing and hard to accept: "If anyone comes to me without hating his father and mother, wife and children, brothers and sisters, and even his own life, he cannot be my disciples." Also: "In the same way, anyone of you who does not renounce all his possessions cannot be my disciple." If we take these words literally, then none of us would be qualified to be Jesus' disciples since we love our families so dearly as well as we need to have some possessions for the sake of our own lives and the lives of our loved ones.

Indeed, Jesus used these words "hate and renounce" in order to catch the people's attention to something so important. Of course, Jesus wants us to love and care for everyone in our families and to fulfill our obligations and duties as husband and wife, parents and children, brothers and sisters. He also wants us to work hard for material goods in order to feed and support our families. He certainly does not want us to be poor or live in poverty.

However, figuratively Jesus is calling us to be detached from worldly allurements and attachments. In other words, anyone who is so attached to "earthly things" cannot be my disciple. Also "hating his father and mother..." implies: "Don't let anyone even your loved one be a barrier or an obstacle" to the practice of your faith or to your missionary discipleship. In the meantime, if one is so attached to earthly things, he or she would never have time and the desire for Sunday Mass even only one hour a week. If one is so attached to this material world, he or she would never have time for "spiritual life" and "charitable work" which is the essential means to salvation. It is a "cross, a burden" to be detached from worldly possessions, however, it will be transformed into an "everlasting glory" in the life to come. - Fr. Joe Pham
